THE HARVESTERS

It is a good thing that a sufficiency of labor for the coming harvest is assured by the sending of ten thousand of Britain's unemployed to Canada to help out. We in Canada should feel both grateful and proud at the knowledge of so bountiful a harvest. Truly Providence is good to this Canada of ours and we go marching steadily forward to our peaceful place in the sun, the envy of some nations, maybe, but the envy of many. How could we be an enemy of the nations we are helping to feed? This by the way.

While all of us will rejoice that there will be no shortage of labor for the gathering in of the harvest, there is another cause for rejoicing and that is in fact that the British and Canadian governments, and our railways, appear to have undertaken to see that the harvesters, when their harvesting jobs are finished, shall not be thrown on the industrial scrap heap to augment Canada's unemployed army. The scandal of a few years ago when many of the men from the old country were left here stranded high and dry, has not been forgotten, no will be forgotten. It gave Canada a black eye overseas and was poor emigration propaganda.

There is much to be said for the idea expressed in London that, as far as possible, miners should be sent out here on this harvesting job. They should make good harvesters, being strong, hardworking, and eager for a new chance. When the harvest is gathered in these men could easily be absorbed in our mining industry. We are not at all desirous of seeing them enter into competition with the coal miners of Canada. Where they would fit in best would probably be in the new mining camps, where men are digging for gold, copper, silver, lead, and other metals, an industry which has made such tremendous strides in the past few years.

But whatever the promised harvesters turn their hands to in Canada, it is to be hoped they will decide to stay in Canada, this great land of opportunity, of promise, of opportunity. There is room here for many millions. There should be no restriction placed upon any who want to come here and find work to do. The patriot cry of certain sections of our people that the newcomers will enter into competition with labor already here is so much balderdash. Every man who comes will create wealth. He will not only be a wage-earner, but a wage-spender. His family will soon follow him. All of us who are here already will benefit by his coming. The Prince of Wales on his last visit to Canada spoke of this Dominion as "this great uncharted reef of wealth, which is Canada." Men are needed, badly needed, to share the reef of wealth, to exploit our tremendous natural resources, and to help this country realize its high destiny as one of the most prosperous countries of the world and the Empire, where not only are all men equal and free, but happy, prosperous, and successful. Welcome to the harvesters!

PENURIOUS POSTAL SERVICE

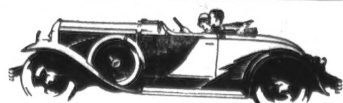

Canadian mail contractors are asking the government to change the system under which they are employed. There is the only branch of government service in Canada where men are employed under contract and by tendering. As their employment is as certain and regular as that of other government service employees there seems to be little ground for requiring in their cases the tender and the contract.

According to the memoranda to the government the tender system has resulted in impoverishment for these men. They say that in hundreds of cases members of the association have been reduced to a state of abject poverty and distress. If the facts as stated are found upon investigation to be true, the government has a duty to remedy the evil. Canada's postal department cannot afford to operate on a basis that spells penury for any of its employees.

The Globe heartily endorses the proposal for a full investigation into the complaints made by the Mail Contractors' Association. That investigation should be both prompt and complete and should result in action that will make good on the promise of a fair men's deal as was recently published by the association.

HOW CHARACTER IS MADE

That the expulsion of three boys from Eton should have been of sufficient importance to be put on the cables as a news item for the papers of the world is a tribute to the famous King's school.

The boys, one of whom was the son of a peer, were "charged" with being secretly on aeroplane flights; with "masquerading," which means, for the purpose of Eton's rules, that they changed from their school suits into plain clothes and that they were found in the playing fields of Eton. In the Great War, 5,000 boys were sent to the front and 1101 made the King's Honour is the school's motto. The bruising, battering shocks are "ironed out"

The sudden crash of the tread on a stone carries more force than a kick from a mule. The average tire receives many such "kicks" in a year's run—and the strain is ALL ON THE CORDS.

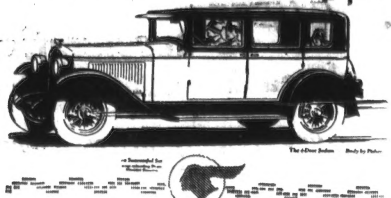

"GP" Gum Cushioned Tires are built to take the punishing blows of the road. The pure gum bands between the cord layers absorb the shocks and prevent the cords from chafing against adjoining layers. This cushion feature is found in no other tire.

SMOOTHNESS and ENDURANCE never before known at the price

WITH its sound basic design and its background of scientific development on General Motors Proving Ground—with its production advantages provided by the vast facilities of General Motors with its score of engineering advancements, including the famous G-M-R cylinder head——Pontiac Six offers a combination of smooth six-cylinder performance and high-speed endurance, the equal of which is found in no other car in the world selling for so low a price.

Its smooth, silent performance, combined with the beauty and luxury of its Fisher bodies, provides a measure of owner satisfaction unequalled in its field. And its tremendous endurance results in unparalleled length of life, which in turn, is expressed in consistently high resale value.

More important reasons for the selection of any car have never been found. That's why ever-increasing thousands are choosing the Pontiac Six... why Pontiac sales for 1928 are far ahead of previous records.

Gull Lake

Form Aquatic Club

With the second organization meeting having been held on Thursday night the success of "Klaskau" (Gull Lake Aquatic Club), is well on its way to success, and without doubt it will prove to be the biggest organization of its kind in Alberta. A list of officers has been drawn up for presentation to the general meeting on Saturday evening. As far as possible it was decided that the officers and members of the various committees be divided up among all the different towns represented at the Beach. Following are the officers that will be voted on at the next meeting—

Hon. President, A. A. MacGillivray, Calgary; Vice-President, Mrs. Cecil Sutcliffe, Edmonton; Secretary, Mrs. G. P. Vickers, Lacombe; Treasurer, E. C. Chapman, Lacombe.

An Advisory Board was also named, and all with finances of the Club; Publicity and Advertising, C. B. Halpin, Jr.

Objects of the Club

The following is the outline of the objects of the Club:—To promote interest in aquatics in Alberta, by holding weekly meets at the club house and running off a program of Swimming, Diving, Boating, Canoeing and Novelties during the season. Trophies to be given to the winners. To erect a Club House, Diving Platform, Grandstand, Water Chutes, Pier, to employ an instructor in various classes of water endeavor; to make the lake safer for children by the institution of a body of Life Guards with a fast motor boat at their command at all times. To erect cook houses and other conveniences at the Auto Camp and to make the lake more attractive to the cottagers and tourists. It is proposed to hold an Annual two day Regatta at the Beach, during July of next year, and a one day Regatta during August.

A boat house will be built and a bathing house will be in operation next season. Visitors to the lake will find good boats and canoes for rent by the club, and will be assured of a real welcome. If the water sports part of the plan meets with success, it is the intention of the club, to put in a cinder track for field events, and to hold regular dances during the season. Tennis Tournaments and Golf Tournaments are also planned.

The membership list is already reaching large proportions; over four hundred have made application to join, and five hundred dollars has been assured the club as a fund with which to get things under way. Work will be commenced at once to develop the club's properties, and it is the intention of the organization to hold at least two race meets this season, and also a couple of dances.

CHINESE PHILOSOPHY

Someone once said, "I would give ten years of my life to stand for one single hour in Chinese shoes and know the working of the Chinese mind." No greater compliment was ever paid to the deepest thinking, hardest working, thriftiest and most honest—Bret Harte and others notwithstanding—nation the world has ever known. The depth of the Chinese mind is something which "the foreigner" has never been able to sound, because there is no plumb line which can go deep enough. His literature is almost a sealed book, since so few have mastered the written language and retained their sanity sufficiently as a result of the effort to give the world the benefit of the accomplishment. Translators have revealed as best they could in the imperfect languages of the West, some of the beauties of Confucius, Mencius and Lao Tzu; Li Tai Po, whose verses in form and sentiment recall Omar the Tentmaker, and the writers of the more modern schools.

But he who admits that he cannot sound the Chinese mind will perhaps get a momentary insight in the writings of Tai Chi-Tao, author of "The Road for Youth." Here is a modern trend of thought, worthy of the greatest statesman, when he says:

Any activity which does not look forward to the development of industry is foreign to genuine revolution; for revolution aims at producing life, not killing it. It is serious business, not a game. Revolution is by far a greater sin than either imperialism or militarism. For the activities of imperialism are not without a measure of constructive value in material progress and even the militarists, if they are firmly established, can give security to people who are only to exist undisturbed. But mock revolution does not even have the semblance of creditable results; it merely destroys life and paralyzes activity.

If Tai's philosophy is typical of Chinese thought it is quite evident that his country's troublous days are over and, more than that, her day as a world power is about to break. The revolution which Tai is ready to endorse is not a genuine revolution unless it looks forward to the development of industry. It is not a revolution aimed to overthrow institutions which can only be replaced by their own prototypes—which is not revolution at all but only mock revolution.

By far a greater sin than either imperialism or militarism. Tai lapses into the encephalic characteristic of his race when he says, "Even the militarists... can give security to a people who care only to exist undisturbed." Recent events have shown that China, while ready to treat commercially and diplomatically with the world, has ambition to exist undisturbed so far as the administration of her own affairs is concerned. She has told Russia so and packed the Bolsheviks off to see if some other Oriental soil will not be more secure support for the red flag.

But on other hand, his assignment of a useful function to what he calls "the militarists" is clear enough. He sees in them the security of his nation's peace once it has been established; a re-statement of the old but much-questioned policy that a nation armed is a nation which can count on being, as he would say, "undisturbed." Coming from the representative of a people who have hitherto carried little political weight in the world, perhaps the Western Pacifics will cease to suspect Chinese armament as a weapon of offence.

THOUGHTS ARE THINGS

It is a mistake to look upon thought as being something very vague and indefinite. Thoughts are things. They have wonderful power. They do things in addition to being things. Thought started the universe into being. Thought keeps the universe in being. Think you, friends, could this wonderful organism we term, the world have come into existence, or after its coming into existence, have continued in being, unless there had first been thought and thought had continued? Somewhere behind all the mystery of life, and creation, there is a Mind, whose power is in thought.

We are but part of that Universal Mind. Our thoughts, likewise, is one of the most potent factors perhaps the most potent force in life. Take the question of evil: was it not William Shakespeare who said, "There is nothing evil but thinking makes it so?" We refer to it here only to illustrate the power of thought, not to dilate upon evil and its character and power. If Shakespeare were right, and evil only has existence because men and women have imposed an evil character and condition upon some thing by their thinking, then thought must have a tremendous power. After all, the Bard of Avon, must have been right, because the very admission of evil postulates the existence of a power co-equal with God, which is unthinkable.

We should guard our thinking and train our thinking machine, the mind, to think high thoughts useful thoughts, helpful thoughts. If we but had a right conception of our minds and what they are; if we could only realize that the individual mind is definitely part of the Universal Mind, that it can be brought into harmony with the Divine, and that its wonderful powers may be devoted to co-operating with the creative processes of the All-Father; then would life have for us all a different and nobler meaning. We would not waste the powers of mind which are ours; but would re-consecrate them to the service of the world, the development of life, and the furtherance of humanity's highest ideals. Truly, thoughts are things, to be used wisely, constructively, serviceably.

Edward Beresford, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Beresford, 1385 Eighth Avenue Northwest, Calgary, was drowned Sunday morning at Sylvan Lake. Holidaying there with his parents, young Beresford went out on the lake between 9 and 10 o'clock Sunday morning by himself in a flat bot-tommed boat. He was wearing his bathing costume, and it is believed he intended to swim. His body was recovered shortly afterwards.

JOFFRE NEWS

The picture show shown in the Joffre Hall last Friday night, entitled "The Cruise of the Jasper B." was well attended. Mrs. England gave a short dance afterwards. A very enjoyable time was spent at Middleton's Sunday by several young people of the district at a party given in honor of Ed's birthday. Two very severe hail storms struck this district on Saturday and Sunday morning, totally wiping out some crops and badly damaging others. Born to Mr. and Mrs. A. Rathwell, on Aug. 7, a son.

The Red Tux boys from Sylvan Lake are playing for a dance in the Joffre Hall on Friday, Aug. 17. Everyone come and have a good time.

AT THE COSY

The Home of Good Pictures and Good Music
"Two Arabian Knights"—all star cast. This is the greatest war comedy ever screened. You laugh, we laugh, everybody laughs at this uproarious comedy. All about two doughboys and a doughgirl, in an uproar overseas behind the lines. If you liked "Behind the Front" then you will rave over this one. Also comedy and news. Children's Matinee on Saturday at 2.30.

Clive, Saturday Night Only
Rin-Tin-Tin in "Rinty of the Desert" and "The Newlyweds Troubles," with Snookums in a real dandy 2 reel comedy.
Lacombe, Monday and Tuesday
Jean Harlow, George Lewis, Last Rites and Alice Joyce, in "A Melodrama Mystery" "13. Washington Square." This is something new in mystery melodrama; creepy chills and laughing thrills. A love story and a sinister plot. The most unusual detective story of the season. It's a real one—also. Both these pictures are Passed "U." Good 2 reel comedy.

CLEARING THE DECKS

Volumes, in the aggregate, of crop estimates may be written throughout the season from seed time to harvest, but the most significant indication of all are the preparations of the railways for conveying labor to the harvest fields and for moving the crops in the elevator.
The fact that the railways have made preparations to move upward of 44,000 harvesters into the field is sufficient index of their expectations based on careful observation of the crop throughout the whole season.
It is reassuring to note the manner in which the railways are clearing their decks for early action and mobilizing every available piece of rolling stock for the gigantic task which is before them. Already this stock is standing at distributing points ready to move the grain as soon as it starts to arrive from the harvest field and the market is ready to receive it.
Scores of giant locomotives are being temporarily transferred from Eastern lines to the Western. Bins are being cleared at the head of the Lakes and great grain carrying steamships are taking away every bushel their hulls can carry in order to leave space for the new grain which is due in the course of the next few weeks.
New elevators numbering very little short of 700 will be available for this year's crop in addition to the accommodation of last year.
Barring the possibility of a last hour mishap, Alberta farmers, in common with others in Western Canada, have reason for the most hopeful outlook. Weather has continued to be favorable and, though hail has visited one or two points in this province and in Saskatchewan, it is probable that the aggregate for the province will be at least as high as last year.

THE WHEAT MARKET AND THE POOL

With a bullish crop report from Washington and another of the same sort expected immediately from Ottawa the wheat markets have reacted much to the detriment of holders of wheat on margin. A decline of close to 40 cents a bushel in the 1928-9 harvest in North America does not augur well for continuance of high prices on the world markets. Lower price is the penalty the farmers have to pay for their evident inability to gauge more accurately the world market's need. If it were possible for the farmer to do as does the manufacturer—regulate his production always to a near approach to possible demand—much of the speculative element would disappear from the wheat business. It does not seem that this can be done. No production business is more surrounded by hazards than is wheat growing. Weather vagaries alone make any certain advance estimate concerning it impossible. Add to these the chance of pests of one sort or another getting into the crop and it will be clear that regulation of production is about the most difficult thing the farmer has to do. And that being the case it would seem that seasons of heavy surplus alternating with years of shortage are inevitable and in great measure beyond human control.

In the circumstances should this be a year of heavy wheat surplus it is well for the farmer that his wheat pool is functioning and that it has over a cycle of years of reasonable prosperity fortified itself to meet adverse seasons, should they come. With the sort of harvest that is in prospect this year for Western Canada and lacking the stabilizing influence of the pool, we could expect to see a veritable glut of wheat on the market so soon as threshing starts. Past experience has proven that such seasonal gluts mean much lowered price.

If pool experience means anything it ensures a degree of stabilization during the glut period such as will save its members many thousands of dollars by the time the 1928-9 crop season ends. There may not be as much money per bushel in wheat for this season, as there was a year ago, but because of the pool it is a certainty there will be more than there would have been had the pool not been functioning. Also with the prospect in view of harvesting this year's crop at a considerable less cost than had to be met last year, the year's profit to the farmer should not about as much as came to him a year ago.

One of the reasons for the popularity of the McCormick-Deering Improved Grain Binder, is that by lowering the knife the guard runs close to the ground and gets all the grain.

"New I'll do the dictating," said the stenographer, after she married the boss.

The McCormick-Deering Tractor Binder harvests as much grain in a day as two men can do with 8-foot three binders.

A Lacombe man says: "Summer visitors usually have a few shortcomings, but many long stayings."

A repair part for any of your McCormick-Deering implements should always be an exact duplicate of the original. If it is not, the result is poor service and lost time. Insist on genuine I.H.C. repairs. We have them.

Disciple of the New China Honored by Compatriots

(By C. B. Halpin, Jr.)

On Saturday evening last we had the unique experience of attending a Chinese banquet given in honor of Dr. Tehyi Hsieh, one of the foremost men in "New China." The local countrymen of this illustrious statesman spared no pains or expense in holding the banquet, and the food, though strange to our occidental palates, was delicious, and served in real Chinese style.

As we sat down we were served with the world famous "Bird's Nest Soup," a soup that we were told by the chef took seven days to prepare, and we were told that contrary to general belief, the soup was not made out as they had to eat or go hungry, it was not long before they were adept at the handling of same.

Almond Chicken, was served next; this dish was delightful, consisting of minced chicken and roasted or fried almonds. Elephants Ears, a dish very delicious, but exceedingly strange was next placed on the table; its name is derived from the shape of the Mushroom that it is largely composed of. This mushroom has the shape of an elephant's ear. Sharks Fin, a dish containing tender bamboo shoots, which appeared like "fins" was served next. Then came Foo Yung Lobster Salad; Bamboo Shoots; Water Chestnuts; Foo Kuo Quinine Vegetable Course; Dragons Eyes Lychees and Sub-Cum Desert. The twenty local businessmen and their wives thoroughly enjoyed the repast, and the talks following will be long remembered. Dr. Hsieh told in length some of the many things occurring in "New China," and we were all impressed by his sincerity, his ready wit and his charming manner. Many things he told us about his fellow countrymen, of their struggles through the ages, of their gradual decline from a once cultured people and of their gradual climb back to world power. He said that "Perhaps it is the modesty of my people that has kept them back in present day progress, that has made them little understood to the occidental mind, or perhaps, it is their very deep thinking and their centuries of culture that antedates that of all other nations, that sets them apart. Whatever it was, a new day is dawning in China, and in a very few years they will be a people looked up to and respected by all—a power to be reckoned with. "Ask those who have visited in my country, he said, "they understand us, and if I am right in my belief, they love my people." He said that the Chinese to Calgary and Lacombe are among the "best in America," and we should feel proud of having them with us. He told us that the present development of China the ones in this country would begin a trek back to their native land, as there will be work for all in the awakening. He dealt with the "Dope" habit, saying that the new regime in China is working hard to stamp out this curse, and with marked success. He dealt with their past history, how they gave the world the best dress material, silk; the best food, rice; the best beverage, tea; the greatest blessing, printing; he told of their social life and industrial advancement, and the Chinese people are fundamentally honest and hard workers, have of "birds nests" but the name was derived from its appearance.

There was no sugar, milk, pepper or salt on the table, the food having been of a hotly balanced in the kitchen, that one did not need to add anything and did not notice the absence of the usual seasonings. Special Jassamine Mandarin Tea was served throughout the banquet. This tea, we were told, was imported especially for the occasion and costs in the neighborhood of sixteen dollars a pound. The tea was served in Chinese cups bought for the occasion, the cups were painted on the outside with Chinese characters, which were translated by the Dr. and me. "Whatever your heart desires, I wish for you." No knives or forks were used at the banquet, and only for the liquid dishes, Chinese porcelain spoons. Our citizens present at the affair, had some difficulty in getting on to the hang of things, but great respect for their parents, and teachers, (who have even more power than a parent in the fatherly are called "Father" in his country. It would be impossible to report all the talk, but suffice it say, his talk was appreciated by everyone present, and we were honoured to have met a man of the caliber of Dr. Hsieh. We were glad to have been given the opportunity of listening to such a man, telling us from the depth of his heart about his countrymen. In ending his speech he recited that famous poem of Kipling, "East is East and West is West."

"There is neither East nor West, border, breed, nor birth, When two strong men stand face to face, Though they come from the ends of the earth,"

And lines of his own: "Though East be East and West be West,

One day the twain shall surely meet, When both obey their Maker's 'heist, When both in heart and mind are great,

When truth is crowned in a royal state, When justice, Mercy, sit enthroned, When lies, cruelty and greed lie prostrate,

And love of mankind come to their own."

Some of the pointed paragraphs used by Dr. Tehyi Hsieh, were: "The foreign trade of one billion and a half dollars yearly. When organized as well as Australia, she will become the purchaser of $65,000,000,000 yearly."

"Intellectually China is destined to be modernized. Capable of contributing enormously towards world peace and world intellectual progress."

"Half the world's tragedy is but the stupid incapacity to put ourselves in the other man's place."

"All gloomy talks you hear are largely due to the fact that it is easier to talk hard times than to do hard work."

"There is a great difference between visionary man and a man of vision."

"There is also a great difference between Church Service and Church Services."

The banquet was held in the City Cafe, and was given in honor of Dr. Hsieh by Mr. James Lim, Mr. Wey Yen, who acted as speaker, Mr. Mack Chung of the Hop-Chung Cafe and Mr. Ho. Sheuk of the Depot Cafe.

Among those present were: Dr. Locke, J. Fraser, Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Caruthers, Miss Helen Caruthers, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Sweet, Thos. Wilkes, Geo. Holston, Mr. and Mrs. N. Morrison, Mr. Adna Reeves, C. B. Halpin, Jr., Mr. Baker, Miss Wallace, Miss Robinson, Mrs. A. Lundie, Mr. Cruickshank, Mr. H. True, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Russell and other.
